

Todd Gayle
National Recruiter
US Customs and Border Protection
Air and Marine Operations

Supervisory Air Interdiction Agent Todd Gayle has worked for US Customs and Border Protection (CBP) for over 21 years. He left home for the ARMY after high school where he served as a M1A1 tank driver during Desert Storm. When He left, he then applied his GI Bill towards his Associates of Applied Science in Professional Aeronautics from Gateway Technical College in Kenosha, Wisconsin. Later, he became an agent for the US Border Patrol and worked on the ground for approximately 6 years until he picked up a pilot position with them. Since his employment with US CBP he has flown and coordinated a variety of homeland security missions here and abroad. Agent Gayle holds multiple licenses and a type rating in both fixed wing and rotor craft with over 4,500 hours of flight experience. He currently works out of El Paso, TX and serves as a National Recruiter for US CBP Air and Marine Operations.